

Employee Voter Registration Week
September 26-30, 2016
www.employeesvote.org

America works better when Americans vote. But Americans can't vote unless they are registered!

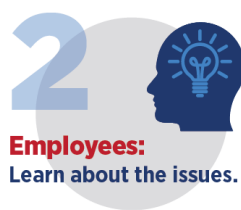

The truth is that registering to vote is simple and doesn't take much time or effort.

Employee Voter Registration Week is an effort to shrink the number of unregistered eligible private sector voters across the country. The initiative does not tell employees how to vote or who to vote for, instead it provides information to help employers encourage voter registration. During the week of September 26-30, private sector organizations unite to work toward our common goal.

EMPLOYERS can participate by communicating with their employees about the importance of registering to vote, learning about the issues impacting their industry, researching the candidates on the ballot, and voting in this year's election. Visit the Employer Resource center on www.employeesvote.org.

EMPLOYEES can participate by registering to vote or updating their voter registration information by visiting www.employeesvote.org. Once there, they can learn more about your state's voting deadlines, candidates, and then ask their friends and family to do the same.

- In 2012, an estimated 51 million U.S. Citizens were not registered to vote—that's more than 24% of the eligible population. In other words, three years ago, nearly 1 in 4 eligible citizens were not registered
- On top of that, 1 of every 8 voter registrations in the U.S. were not valid or were significantly inaccurate¹

EVRW is powered by BIPAC, a nonpartisan, membership-driven, organization dedicated to helping private sector employers and employees engage in the political process.

¹Pew Center on the States (2012) Inaccurate, costly, and inefficient evidence that America's voter registration system needs an upgrade. Retrieved from http://www.pewtrusts.org/~media/legacy/uploadedfiles/pcs_assets/2012/PewUpgradingVoterRegistrationpdf.pdf